

Summer Project:

Style or Create a Pet

This is a little summer project to get your creative juices and imagination flowing. Try to think outside of the box and have fun.

It's often said that pets personify their owners and in many cases become an extension of their style.

Your task for the summer is to style a pet.

This is a bit of fun, so don't worry too much about it. It is a way for you to show your personality and your love of fashion.

This can be actual pets (photographed) or imaginative pets (using collage, Photoshop, illustration or a mixture of all of them).

You may use any medium you like - be bold, creative and play with the materials.

You may wish to mix animals together...

You can present this in any way you like during induction week. It could be 3D, 2D, Photographed, digital, or any other.

To help you with your styling project look at some stylists that are around today, such as Nick Knight, Katie Grand, Andrew Davis, John Galliano, Melanie Ward, Kelly Cliff and Kirsty Geddes.

If you are going to style a real pet, please remember to take care of the animal and not cause it any distress!
